PER CURIAM: Affirmed pursuant to Rule 220(b), SCACR, and the following authorities: Rule 403, SCRE ("Although relevant, evidence may be excluded if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of the issues, or misleading the jury, or by considerations of undue delay, waste of time, or needless presentation of cumulative evidence."); State v. Green, 412 S.C. 65, 79, 770 S.E.2d 424, 432 (Ct. App. 2015) ("A trial [court]'s decision regarding the comparative probative value and prejudicial effect of evidence should be reversed only in 'exceptional circumstances.'" (alteration in original) (quoting State v. Lyles, 379 S.C. 328, 338, 665 S.E.2d 201, 207 (Ct. App. 2008))); id. ("A trial [court]'s balancing decision under Rule 403 should not be reversed simply because an appellate court believes it would have decided the matter otherwise because of a differing view of the highly subjective factors of the probative value or the prejudice presented by the evidence." (alteration in original) (quoting Lyles, 379 S.C. at 339, 665 S.E.2d at 207)); id. ("If judicial self-restraint is ever desirable, it is when a Rule 403[, SCRE] analysis of a trial court is reviewed by an appellate tribunal." (quoting Lyles, 379 S.C. at 339, 665 S.E.2d at 207)); State v. Kelsey, 331 S.C. 50, 76, 502 S.E.2d 63, 76 (1998) ("The relevance, materiality, and admissibility of photographs are matters within the sound discretion of the trial court. If the photographs serve to corroborate testimony, it is not an abuse of discretion to admit them."); id. ("A photograph should be excluded only if it is calculated to arouse the jury's sympathy or prejudice or is irrelevant or unnecessary to substantiate the facts.").
